FEATURES

This wine was made using Tempranillo and Graciano grapes from old vines grown on the Finca de Torrea estate, where the Marqués de Riscal cellars are currently located. Finca Torrea is a modern-style wine, not only because it is less classic in character than the wines most associated with our name, but also because of the image on the label, which shows the map of the vineyard plots of the Finca de Torrea estate, inspired by the line of design created by the architect Frank O. Gehry with the Hotel Marqués de Riscal.

The land is classic Rioja Alavesa clay-limestone soil which, historically, has produced the best results in quality. Harvesting is performed by hand into crates of small capacity. Once they arrive at the winery, the grapes are destemmed before undergoing selection on the sorting tables and subsequent crushing.

Fermentation is then carried out in low-capacity, Allier oak vats at a temperature of no more than 25°C so as to preserve to the maximum the fruity character of the wine. Extraction is achieved through gentle pumping over and a short maceration period, with the aim of maintaining the elegance, finesse and freshness necessary for a pleasant and persistent mouthfeel.

Once malolactic fermentation has been completed, the wine remains in French Allier oak barrels for 18 months and after a short time rounding off in bottle, the wine is released for sale.

This is different in style to the wines traditionally produced by Marqués de Riscal. It is more modern, with more fruit and fewer balsamic notes, with a shorter period of ageing and in French oak and also a shorter period of bottle ageing.
